Lacking in Fine Fish Education

B. F. Wilder of New York sends us the folowing clipping and comment:

Dear Mr. Sanborn: "Frankly, we don't think much of trout fishing. It does keep one out in the open air—when he isn't sitting down in the brook—but to one of our lethargic nature, the exercise it demands isn't compensated for by the fish you catch. The trout we have met to date are better eating than yellow perch. They are also easier to take off a hook, but those, as far as we are concerned, are their sole claims to superiority. The greatest thrill we ever got out of a trout pool was once when something in its brown depths tugged so hard that we, insured to the ways of trout, were certain it was a three pounder. It turned out to be a sun fish, about the size of our palm. We're going to try and learn to cast a fly, but, entirely confidentially, it's our opinion that trout fishing is only worth while because it keeps you from going insane before the bass season opens." By F. F. V., New York Herald Tribune.

Them's my sentiments. Trusting that you will some day drop the trout for that nobler fish, the black bass, I am, with kindest regards and best wishes, B. F. Wilder.

Oh! You are off your trolly and ignorant of the bliss of catching a worthwhile fish: delightful to look at, fit to eat and lie about. No bass for me! Salmon, trout and silverlakers, Moosehead raised, will do.

SOUTH PARIS

Mrs. Lucelia C. Morton

After an illness of about four weeks from which it appeared at times that she would rally, Mrs. Lucelia C. Morton died at her home at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, Apr. 12, at the age of 83 years. Up to her final illness, she had been physically very active for one of her years, and her mental clearness and activity were in no degree impaired.

Mrs. Morton came of old New England stock. She was the eldest child of Ebridge and Julia (Prentiss) Forbes, and was born in Paris, Sept. 20, 1840. She married Henry F. Morton, in 1861, who was the founder of the business which has developed into what is now the Paris Manufacturing Company, principally owned in the Morton family.

The family lived at West Sumner a number of years and in the early seventies removed to Paris Hill where Mr. Morton established his business. For a short time they resided in Binghamton, N. Y., and Rutland, Vt., but for nearly forty years Mrs. Morton has lived in South Paris.

Her husband died in 1900 and has since shared her home with a daughter, Julia Morton, on Park Street.

She is survived by four sons, William P. Morton, George R. Morton, Harry A. Morton and Clarence G. Morton, all of South Paris, and one daughter, Julia P. Morton. Another son, Walter P., died many years ago. There are six grandchildren and six great grandchidren. She is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Clara A. Bessey of Stoneham, Mass., and Mrs. Mary H. Crockett of South Paris, and one brother, Arthur E. Forbes of South Paris, and by numerous other more distant relatives.

In early life Mrs. Morton became a member of the Baptist Church, and when the South Paris Baptist Church was formed, her membership was transferred to that. Throughout her life she was devoted to the work of the church and its auxiliaries and all that they stand for. She was also a member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, was interested in the news of the day, and was a supporter of every good cause. She was a woman of the highest type of Christian character and beloved by all.

High School Notes

The first baseball game of the season was held on the Paris High School field, Friday afternoon, between the "Centipedes" and the "Velocipedes." It was a very evenly matched game although the "Velocipedes" had two league players, "Dave" Masterman as pitcher and "Carl" Fuller as shortstop. The most exciting part of the game was the home run made by Homer Aldrich.

One of the members of the Senior class, Arthur Brooks, who has been on a visit to Washington and Annapolis, has returned to South Paris and resumed his studies.

Howard Chick of Norway has been taking Miss Weston's place as she was called home by the death of her father.

A Leap Year Hop was held April 11 by the Junior class from 7:30 to 10:45 p. m., in the assembly hall of South Paris High School. Punch and crackers were sold throughout the evening. Both new and old fashioned dances were enjoyed by those who danced, while games were played by the others. A three-piece orchestra furnished the music. The rooom was decorated in green and white, the class colors.

He has lived in Saco a number of years.

TWICE PROVEN

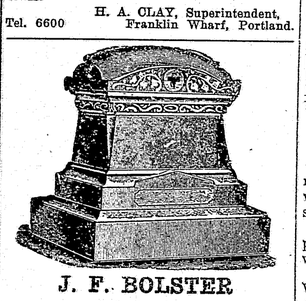

If you suffer backache, sleepless nights, tired, dull days and distressing urinary disorders, don't experiment. Read this twice-told testimony. It's Norway evidence—doubly proven.

E. C. Libby, Sanborn St., Norway, says: "I had a great deal of backache which annoyed me to do anything. My head ached and I noticed specks floating before my eyes and my sight blurred. I used different remedies but it was left to Doan's Pills to give me lasting results. I got Doan's at Stone's Drug Store and since using them I have had no return of kidney complaint." (Statement given June 6, 1916.)

On September 3, 1920, Mr. Libby said: "I haven't had occasion to use Doan's Pills or any other kidney medicine since being cured by Doan's. My faith in this remedy is just as strong as ever."

THIS WOMAN'S MARVELLOUS RECOVERY

All Due to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Truman, Minn.—"I was badly rundown, had pains in my side and back; sometimes I could hardly move around in bed. My husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and after taking it I was so much better I could do all my work again. I do my housework, have a garden, raise chickens, and in harvest time I worked in the field and helped pick corn. Sometimes I do chores and milk. I took the Vegetable Compound before and after my four-months-old baby was born, and it has always helped me wonderfully. I believe there is no better medicine made for women, and I hope every woman will give it a fair trial."—Mrs. AUGUST R. WIEDERHOFT, R. No. 2, Box 84, Truman, Minn.

Women suffering from troubles so common to their sex should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

The Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has relieved women of such troubles for the past fifty years. For sale by druggists everywhere.

THE BEST SPRING TONIC IS A NEW SUIT

If calomel and sulphur have lost their potency, if you know that nobody loves you, if you are sure that from now on one season is going to be just like another to you, come and take counsel with us.

If we can do nothing for you we'll tell you so and break the news to your relatives. But don't give up hope until you have seen our new Spring Suits.

They are the sort of garments that make glad the heart of man, and give comfort and solace to the soul of the woman who wonders what has happened to the wild, dashing, romantic chap she married.

We know it is customary for clothiers to talk about fabrics, styles and prices. But we prefer to talk about what we can make these things do for you. And, perhaps the best and quickest way to tell you this is to say that this season we can make you look and feel better dressed than ever.

It will take only one suit or overcoat to make you feel like the flowers that bloom in the spring, tra la!

This store open all day, Saturday, April 19.

Peptona is palatable—therefore ideal for persons whose digestive apparatus is in a weakened condition.

Twin Town Nature Club

Forty and more members of the Twin Town Nature Club attended the April meeting at Community Hall, Norway, Monday evening. The room was tastefully decorated with pussy willows, alder catkins and hyacinths. A blazing fire in the open grate added not a little to the cheerful surroundings.

The meeting opened with the company reading in unison the poem, "Maine." A suggestion was made that this plan be introduce in the local school and each pupil asked to commit it to memory. Several names were added to the membership list, making a total enrollment of 82.

Albert D. Park read a letter to Bird Lovers from the Audoboin Society of Massachusetts regarding the Crow Shooting contest of the Dupont Company and a unanimous vote was that the club protest against the wholesale slaughter of crows.

Mrs. Olin B. Tracy gave delightful readings and Adeline Decoster at the piano, and Clara Shepard, violin, rendered pleasing selections. Mrs. Bernice Hill sang a solo. A piano duet was given by Mildred Curtis and Adeline Decoster. An interesting lecture on "Our Maine Gems," was given by Robert Bickford, lapidarist in Norway. He had photos showing the work of gem cutting and specimens of uncut stock—tourmaline, quartz, topaz, etc. Mr. Bickford presented each member a cut gem with an invitation to visit the lapidary at any time.

Mrs. Tracy rendered a pleasing solo and Philip Stone read a letter from the club's correspondent members, Mr. and Mrs. G. Ralph Harriman, now living in Visalia, California. Specimens of flowers from the west were sent by them to Norway friends. The nature quiz between the Jays and the Owls resulted in the Owls favor.

Victrola music including Kelogg's bird- notes were played and the members spent a social hour comparing individual lists. Saturday, April 19, the club is invited to the "Brown House," home of Mrs. Sara Howe, for the day. Each member bring lunch and a drinking cup and the hostess will serve hot coffee. With the bungalow as headquarters, all may come and go at will to the nearby woods and open pasture.

The next meeting will be on May 5 at South Paris.

The entertaining committee of the evening comprised Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Edminster, Miss Tessa Thibodeau, Miss Gertrude Gardner, Miss Mercy Millett, Philip Stone, Miss Mary Whitredge, Mrs. C. P. Gates, Walter Bacon.

Letter from California

G. Ralph Harriman of Visalia, Cal., writes the following letter to the members of the Twin Town Nature Club which was read at their recent meeting.

"Just a few observations to add to the pleasure of your meeting. Most of my time from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. is devoted to the chasing of that coveted moth, "The Almighty Dollar." The chief nature study that I am at work upon now is "human nature" and "believe you me" she is "some bird."

The particular specie that is most offensive to the average individual is that brand of near(?) human known as the native son. Grows luxuriantly in this neck of the San Joquin (accent on the joke, natives call it Walk en).

This valley is the paradise for many birds of various hues. We have the Japanese Cuckoo, Hindu Yellow Bird, Blackbirds, Chinese Money Grabbers, Armenian Blue Heron, Turkish Dusters, Mexican Yellow Hammers, Portugese Snipe, Greek Woodpeckers, Spanish Robins, a great many Missouri Swallows, an occasional Oklahoma Wren.

The bird that attracting the most attention at the present writing is the ohnson Bird. He has peculiar habits, a bill like a Pelican, and gormandizing habits, migrates eastward and roosts under the dome of the capitol at Washington.

This fall he has been seen at different times hovering over various states. The poor devil has found no pace even primarily to alight. Expectations are that he will continue in his wild flight until after hovering over Cleveland for a time, he will be brought down at the first shot and become a "Homing Pigeon."

I would hate to say or do anything that would change anyone's ideas of a personal idol. He is going to have one vote in California, his own. They say each night he offers up this prayer, 'O Lord why don't they make men as good as me?' " Enough of this.

We are both well and happy. You will hardly know Anne when she returns to the old Pine Tree State this spring. The country agrees with her here, even though she does not agree with the people.

I would hate to have Fred Cummings know that I had written in such a light vein on his "beloved California" or for Cora to know that I am a member of the Coolidge Republican Club.

Veranda Club Notes

Veranda Club met with its president, Mrs. Alice Blacquiere Thursday, April 10, with a good attendance. One new member was admitted to membership. After the business meeting the hostess served lunch. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Millie Butters Thursday evening, April 24.

A benefit card party was held at the home of Mrs. Beatrice Trafton Wednesday evening; April 16, with three tables at play and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

Charles Verenis and young son Peter were in Portland Tuesday, on business.

The bog above the corn shop is practically free from ice. Nothing has started on the lake but open water may appear any day while high winds prevail.

Faye Blake has returned to his job on the Norway-Paris bus after an absence caused by a "dropped stitch."

A storehouse is being built near the depot for the distribution of a popular line of automobile lubricants.

The section crew has given Depot Square the annual top coat of cinders and ashes. This does away with the mud and makes a solid surface.

Chas. F. Boober: "Ice will go out Tuesday, April 22 at 2 o'clock p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. John Matthews and son of Malden, Mass., are spending the week with her mother, Mrs. Lee M. Smith.

About fifty members of the fire department were entertained by Chief Giles Frost and assistant Frank Hurd, Wednesday evening. The party gathered at Engine Hall and was strictly informal with smokes, cards, radio and sociability. As the latch string was out at all times, the boys drifted in as convenient and remained until a late hour

YOUR HOME TOWN PAPER

The kerosene lamp is adjusted just so
The Joneses may come, or the Browns may go;
It throws a light with a soft yellow glow
When "chores" are done and stock is fed,
And the wee little rascals are tucked in bed,
The coals on the hearth are glowing red.
And then, somehow, to get the news,
The Home Town Paper I peruse.

From six in the mornin' till darkness comes,
We keep things movin' till they fairly hum;
Well, if I must say it, I'm fond of work—
The neighbors'll tell you I never shirk—
Yet I have my hours to while away
Round about the finish of a good long day;
Then I like very well, if you must inquire,
The Home Town Paper and a good hot fire.

There may be new "fandangles" at the show,
Here's a big ad 'bout the grocery store,
Prices are comin' down more and more;
Every column is filled with news for you
Well, if here ain't my name on the first page, too,
That there editor fellow in town,
His Old Home Paper is winnin' renown.

Button-Page

Lewis C. Button of South Paris and Thelma R. Page of Rochell, Georgia, were married April 3 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Page at Rochell. The ceremony was performed at 5 o'clock in the afternoon by Rev. B. F. West, pastor of the Rochell Methodist Church. About thirty guests were present at the reception which was held at 6 o'clock.

A few days after the wedding, they started on their 1,400 mile journey to Maine, making their first visit with Mrs. Button's relatives at Vidilia, Ga. They passed one day at Washington, D. C., as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Louis W. Clark, formery of South Paris, who provided automobile trips about the city and arranged a visit to the capitol buildings.

A stop was made at Watertown, Mass., to visit Mr. Button's sister and a side trip was made to the Waltham Watch Co. factory where Mr. Button was formery employed. He met several old time friends among the employees and had an enjoyable visit.

The bridal party reached South Paris Friday evening and was received by members of the Quiet Club and by a large group of employees from the Mason Manufacturing Co. Showers of rice and confetti greeted the couple as they hurried into Don Bean's automobile to escape the attack. They were taken to their new home at Shurtleff Avenue on Oak Knoll.

When Mr. Button appeared at the Mason factory Saturday to pass the customary cigars, the women in the setting up department were prepared for his visit. They arranged a surprise reception and carried out the details with not a single hitch. The bridegroom was equal to the occasion and "set up" the candy.

THE SPIRIT OF THE CROSS

Just a cross of wood,
Heavy, rough and hard,
Yet thru that darkest day
God's angels were on guard.

They knew the heart of gold
Would quicken to their touch,
Tho defiled and crucified,
Hung one who had suffered much.

So when within the tomb
Our Saviour's body lay,
An angel fair came down
And rolled the stone away.

Tho Pilate's zealous soldiers
Stood armed upon the watch,
They saw not Christ go forth,
They were blinded by that Heavenly torch.

Early the Sabbath morn they came
To anoint their beloved dead,
With spices and sweet herbs
The two Marys, slowly and sad.

Then sweetly spake the Angel,
"Nay, there is naught to fear!
Go tell them "He is Risen,"
And to Gallilee draweth near.

They ran to tell His followers
Who faithless, believed them not.
Till Christ himself sat with them,
Break bread and again thus taught.

"Believe ye all power unto Me,
Go ye then forth before all,
Preach the Gospel afar,
Be baptised in Christ lest ye fall!"

So spake He and at once they knew Him,
Then He silently slipt away,
But through all the countless ages
Lives the spirit of the Cross today.

The Spirit of Faith in our God,
The Spirit of Sweet Charity,
The Spirit of Brotherly Love,
And they shall live through Eternity.

—Eva Bradlee Jackson.

GARDENS THAT PRODUCE RESULTS

No gardner with any regard for his pocket book or his soils will ever bother with poor seed.

With good seed it is possible to make a good garden with many other conditions unfavorable, but with poor seed it is practically impossible to make any garden at all.

Generally speaking, the high priced seeds are usually the best in the long run. The cost of seed is such a small item compared with the cost of the working, fertilizers, etc., that there is never any economy in using poor seed, as this may overcome all of the other unfavorable factors.

Naturally, you ask how can we tell a good seed from a poor one? You cannot. Seeds have to be bought on faith. The reputation of the firm offering them is practically the only guarantee you have of their quailty. All seedsmen make rosy statements about the quality of their seed. But only some of these are true. And the wise gardner who has some regard for his efforts and hopes to get a good return from his labor will not buy the first package of seeds that is offered to him but will inquire carefully into the reputation of the firm or person offering the seeds for sale.

Benjamin Franklin once said that "He who follows the plow puts his trust in the Lord," He who plants seed puts his trust in the seedsman.

Good seeds are seeds that are grown on the plants in the proper soil under proper climatic conditions and handled conscientiously in the most approved manner. It is not possible to practice psycho-analysis on the seeds. You must know what has transpired during the production of the seed or you must take somebody else's word for it. As it is practically impossible for the amateur gardner to grow his own seed, the only thein ghe can do is to rely on somebody else's statements.

Gardners who wish to secure special kinds of vegetable seeds should order early this year as many kinds of seeds are scarce because of the unfavorable season last year. Many seed houses are this year advising their customers of this fact so that those who are anxious to secure their regular allotment will be able to do so.

Many of us are poor because we couldn't stand a little bit of prosperity.

EASTER SONG

This holy Easter morn
So pure, so fair, so bright,
We bow in worship
To Thee who gives us light.
Thy loving and thoughtful care,
E'en these little flowerets share,
"Faith like Thine, Gift Devine,"
This is our prayer.
Christ rose from out the dead,
So shall our souls be lead
On thru Eternity to meet Thee,
To meet Thee, He said!
Father in Heaven
We glorify Thy name,
Keep us now, we pray Thee,
Safe from all shame.
Join now and praises sing
To God on High, our King,
Lift up your voices
And let your carols ring
Peal forth the joyous strain,
"All shall be born again
And God's love, up above,
We shall regain."
Sing then your songs of Easter,
Let them send forth the word
"God's love shall ever reign,"
Blest word, 'tis heard, blest word.
Father in Heaven,
We glorify Thy name,
Keep us now, we pray Thee,
Safe from all shame.

—Eva Bradlee Jackson.

ARE WE SPENDTHRIFTS?

Recent investigations have shown that Americans spend a fortune foolishly.

Our nation is regarded as a nation of millionaires in Europe.

American people are living on a broad plan and have before them, for the most part, unlimited resources and possibilities, consequently the spending of money to many, though it seems unnecessary luxury, is but a means of attaining some opportunities that present themselves.

The percentage of home owners in the nation is heavy and the percentage of savings accounts is heavier.

America is not a country of spendthrifts when the people are considered as a whole.

NORWAY AND VICINITY

A Regiment of Two

A large crowd enjoyed the comedy-drama, "A Regiment of Two," presented at Norway Opera House, Friday evening, under the auspices of Company C. Maine National Guard.

The story brought out in three acts is the familiar domestic tangle resulting from two husbands in a race to escape their wives and travel with the "boys." In this case, pretending to join a military company was the alibi and drill nights offered a handy excuse to leave the fireside. The suspecting wives used their wits and all but caught the schemers with the goods. Fate was merciful to the husbands in their deception but they rushed through many hair-breadth escapes, thanks to money tips and numerous detours around truthful statements.

This play differs from the average. As a rule truth usually prevails before the final curtain, but in this case ignorance is bliss. The husbands aided by confederates, completely hypnotize the female element and are accepted by their sorrowing "widows" as conquering heroes. As a matter of fact their fighting was confined to a fishing trip, while the regiment was doing service in Panama. The bluff made good, with everybody happy.

Clarence Dyer was "Arthur Sewall," a theoretical warrior, who schemed with his father-in-law, "Ira Walton," played by Albert Quinby. They were a pair of gay ones rebelling against home rule and seeking recreation under the bright lights. This pair had the battle of Bull Run trimmed a mile.

Paul Nevers impersonated "Harry Brentworth," a member of the military company and friend of the two schemers. He proved a helpful assistant and incidently made himself solid in a love match with "Laura Wilton," the old gentelman's daughter.

Fred Walters appeared as "Reginald Dudley," a defunct English lord seeking easy wealth from the hand of Laura. There was nothing doing for his lordship as his quest ended with a punctured tire.

Ernest Descoteau as "Conrad Meltzer" the plumber, was the real thing and a regular "fixer." As a corporal in the company in which the two husbands claimed to figure, he gave damaging testimony against the "boys" in their faked military career. Several substantial bank notes refreshed his memory much to the relief of the husbands all but caught in the meshes.

Marguerite Bowser portrayed "Mrs. Eliza Wilton," wife of the eldest schemer. Her word was law but "Ira's" roving instincts and his lust for a "career" overcame her positice attitude. Her "Sherlock Holmes" methods were made null and void in the crisis by those human elements—sentiment and patriotism. This was the string upon which her husband played and won. Certainly ignorance is bliss.

Verna Kimball impersonated "Mrs. Grace Sewall," a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilton, and wife of the junior schemer. She, like her mother, was trustful yet in doubt when circumstantial evidence cast reflections against her husband's sincerity.

Mildred Allen was "Laura Wilton," selected for the Englishman but in love with "Harry Brentworth." She was wiser than her mother and sister in the deception, and helped her father and brother-in-law in several narrow escapes.

Howard Bennett was "Jim Buckner" known as "the parson" and a wealthy ranch owner in Texas. He appeared as a true Westerner and arrived at the home of his sister, Mrs. Wilton, as the females were overcome with grief for the supposed annihilation of the regiment.

Genie Thompson was "Lena" a typical German maid. She was in love with Meltzer, the plumber, and her cup was full of happiness when the regiment returned.

Edward Burnell has been in charge of the cast since rehearsals started some weeks ago, and has rendered valuable assistance. He assisted in staging the show and handled the grease paints. All parts were taken acceptably and put across in a natural manner.

An orchestra of five pieces played between the acts and furnished music for a dance which followed. A large number remained and proceeds increased materially the total receipts of the evening.

Famous Pianist to Give Recital

Nyiregyhazi, the world famous pianist, will appear at Association Hall, South Paris, on the evening of May 7, under the direction of Prof. W. R. Chapman.

Mr. Nyiregyhazi's first public appearance was in Vienna at the age of two years. Four years later he played with orchestras and soon became a recognized genius. Touring Europe he was acclaimed a second Liszt, and won universal recognition. Coming to America, the pianist instantly attracted the attention of critics who have not yet ceased to praise in the highest terms his wonderful performances.

Mr. Nyiregyhazi was received with enthusiasm at the Maine Music Festival last fall and has, during the past winter, won enviable recognition in large cities in a tour from California to New England.

Closing the musical season in the big cities has made it possible for Prof. Chapman to arrange for this young artist to appear in South Paris. Advance sale of tickets has commenced in South Paris and Norway.

TO A MOTHER DEAR

Oft' times at eve, when my labors are through,
In memory I go to the old home and you.
Once more I'm a lad in my little white bed,
The lights are out and my prayers are said.
The vision I see fills my soul with delight
As I dream of the time when you kissed me good-night.

I sigh with regret when I think of it now,
Of the pain that I brought to your care-furrowed brow,
And the nights that you waited my coming in vain.
Ah! if I could but live the old days again.
I know it would put all my troubles to flight
If you'd come to my bed and kiss me good-night.

—T. R. HUNT.

CASCO

Bobbin Factory Started

Two of Casco's most enterprising residents, Gleason E. Taylor and Raymond C. Fickett, recently entered partnership under the name of Taylor & Fickett and completed a bobbin factory which started up Wednesday, April 15, 1924.

The bobbin mill is situated diagonally opposite the home of Raymond Fickett on part of what was formerly the latter's estate. It is to turn out 1 1-2 by 1 3-4 inch bobbins for cotton and woolen mills. A building for storing the surplus stock will be erected later. It now consists of a 28 horse power engine, swing saw, splitting table, machines for cutting it into squares and lengths, one boring lathe and two other lathes, having back knife machines, and the carriers.
